Sarah Bacon for Congress Unveils Platform to Fix a Political System Built for the Powerful, Not the People

Progressive CA-24 candidate releases sweeping seven-pillar plan targeting political corruption, cost of living, and structural reform

SANTA BARBARA, CA — May 4, 2026. Sarah Bacon, a progressive Democrat running for Congress in California's 24th District, today released a sweeping policy platform aimed at confronting a political system that doesn't work for the people it's supposed to serve.

"Corporate PACs don't give money to be nice. They give it to control what happens in Congress: what gets voted on, who gets questioned, and who gets protected," said Bacon. "All of our donations and expenditures are publicly reported. If we're serious about fixing political corruption, we have to start by refusing to participate in it."

The platform outlines a series of structural reforms, including banning corporate PAC money, abolishing ICE, implementing ranked-choice voting for federal elections, banning gerrymandering, and expanding Medicare to cover all Americans.

Bacon's campaign is centered on reducing the influence of money in politics and building public trust in government, an approach reflected in a platform that goes beyond general priorities to outline specific legislation, concrete mechanisms, and what a member of Congress can actually do.

"We've gotten used to representatives who say the right things, hold press conferences, and make big claims, but ultimately do nothing to push forward the initiatives they claim to champion," said Bacon. "I'm telling people exactly what I'll do in Congress and exactly who I'm willing to take on to get it done. That includes corporate PACs, entrenched interests, and the entire political system that simply does not work for everyday people."

The platform is organized around seven pillars: fighting corruption and fixing Congress; lowering costs and raising wages; making technology work for people; defending rights and human dignity; reforming the immigration system; advancing a values-driven foreign policy; and delivering for the Central Coast.

The platform includes specific legislation Bacon will co-sponsor on Day One, bills the incumbent has not supported. Among them: the Close the Revolving Door Act (H.R. 3554) to create greater restrictions on lobbying after Congress, the ETHICS Act to ban congressional stock trading (H.R. 4890), the College for All Act (H.R. 3543) to expand tuition-free access to higher education, the Living Wage for All Act (H.R. 8555) to increase the federal minimum wage, the Real Courts, Rule of Law Act (H.R. 7836) to create independent immigration courts, and the Block the Bombs Act (H.R. 3565) to restrict U.S. transfers of bunker-busting bombs and artillery ammunition to Israel without Congressional oversight.

Among the most notable proposals:

- Support for the Fair Representation Act to implement ranked-choice voting and independent redistricting, ending gerrymandering and giving voters the ability to rank candidates in order of preference.
- A comprehensive immigration plan that includes abolishing ICE and establishing independent immigration courts.
- Opposition to offshore oil expansion, including efforts to restart the Sable pipeline off the Santa Barbara coast.

Bacon is the only Democratic candidate in the race who does not accept corporate PAC money, AIPAC funding, fossil fuel donations, weapons manufacturer contributions, or funding from crypto and AI interests.

Bacon is a former technology executive who led large teams, managed major budgets, and made high-stakes decisions at high-growth software companies. She now serves as an elected graduate student officer at UC Santa Barbara, where she advocates on behalf of thousands of students at the state and federal level.

California's 24th Congressional District includes Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, and Ventura counties. The June 2 primary is approaching, and vote-by-mail ballots are arriving now.
